65. The Empty Bottle

The Empty Bottle greet with a sweet stench—st beer, sweat, and long night filled with questionable decisions—the kind only a rock sanctuary tucked beyond a hulking front and a faded Old Style sign could produce. It's a rock club of a different era. The kind propped up by smoke stained walls and old bachelors, by mystery shots for three bucks and filthy claustrophobic bathrooms that narrate nights from years past. Thousands of bands have rolled through these parts. Legendary ones: Wilco, the Flaming Lips, LCD Soundsystem White Stripes. But that's why you come. You come to Western and Cortez to drink, thrash, laugh, and your way in the world. You come because it's where you grew up and now because where you feel young. You come because as everything in your life moves forward, nights at the Bottle stand still. —DAN HYMAN
